CHANGE

Design Thinking to INSPIRE. PROMOTE. CHANGE.

It's becoming more obvious every year. Ongoing major environmental issues confirm the need for responsible change to fully consider the lifelong impact of buildings, products and all processes we create.

The new paradigm of sustainable responsible design requires complete revision of thought and action. The questions raised must, like our exhibitions, stimulate the number and sophistication of longer term solutions through innovative design and problem solving methods.

The Society for Responsible Design Inc. (SRD) is an independent, incorporated, Not-for-profit, annually audited, registered environmental organisation that has promoted, since 1989, the value of responsible and sustainable design.

INSPIRE

The SRD Change 11 exhibition showcases a unique collection of projects with deep sustainable and environmental considerations. Young designers from a cross-section of backgrounds in Architecture, Landscape Architecture, Interior Design, Industrial Design, Fashion Design, Visual Communications, Fine Arts and more will be featured.

Annually, SRD Change exhibitions comprise innovative, graduate design solutions from top Australian universities that explore critical issues of sustainability, environmental responsibility, social equity and community.

PROMOTE

...and gain great exposure to the right audience

Since 2004 SRD Change has enjoyed positive exposure, generated impressive opportunities and achieved increasingly broader success by promoting the value of design towards creating our sustainable future.

SRD Change is again proud to be part of Sydney Design 2011 presented by the Powerhouse Museum. Change 11 is open 1st-12th August at 40 Mount St, (formerly known as the Ark) North Sydney with the opening event on Wednesday 3rd, 6.30pm.

As an integral part of this event, the SRD Change 11 exhibition will be publicised across festival marketing, featured in catalogues, posters, maps, website content, plus more and will draw good visitor attendance.

Present and past exhibitors confirm the calibre of this exhibition, achieving national and international exposure.

(Change11) Michael O'Brien's 12volt surgical lamp won an ABC TV's New Inventors episode;

(Change10) Sara Spence developing a compostable bottle here and in NZ;

(Changex07) Rachael Cassar's deconstructed fashion winning the Mittelmoda international fashion award and now is featuring in New York Fashion week 2011.

CHANGE

Curating and presenting these exhibition is an annual challenge, taking it national even more so. The curating team is all volunteer based and requires some substantive support to allow these exhibitions to continue or even go to the next level. Design is such a fabulous avenue for positive change. You may donate anonymously and just know you're very special or allow us to say thanks with good acknowledgement. Make a clear choice to genuinely invest in the future of SRD Change.
